

The Case For Here Project

Strengthen Your Defense With Free Expert Testimony

Case For Here helps individuals who are involved with the criminal justice system and at risk for deportation. Some people have been convicted of a crime or misdemeanor. Others have not filled out the proper paperwork unintentionally and are in violation of the law. Legal infractions can vary, but once they occur, the government can begin legal proceedings to deport them and any family members who are not U.S. citizens. This can mean that families may be disrupted and in some cases children or adolescents who have never left the U.S. face moving to a foreign country or being separated from their parent.

During proceedings the emotional or psychological impact on the litigant, their family and the community is minimized or ignored because there is no expert testimony to be heard in the case. Such expert witnesses are available, but evaluations can be very costly and impossible to afford.

That's where we come in. Members of Case for Here links you up with mental health providers who volunteer to donate expert witness testimony. Just have your lawyer contact us at mike@caseforhere.org There is no cost for this service to you.
